I have noticed that some of these "" and "" work. But others just don't (i.e. REGISTRATION-CODE-SONAR-8-CWWT800867845067359-39. A: I believe it is random. Your missing number in the string was the one that was missing. I tried it again and it is working now. I believe the first few characters are mostly random, but the registration code is mostly the same each time.

"It might take a little while for the right person to get here." "It's not the kind of thing you want to mess with." 5k on their way home. The first order of the day was ice cream. 6k on their way home. We met and walked for a bit then headed home. 5k on their way home. Lunch! (Shout out to that apple pie) 7k on their way home. By the time we reached the house, the kids were exhausted. I said goodbye and told them to have a great day. They were all so tired. 8k on their way home. You can sleep when you're dead. 9k on their way home. Before we went to sleep, my oldest started singing the "I wanna be like Mike" song. He still sings it to this day and the oldest joins in (She's 3 and a half). 9k on their way home. 12:30am. The following day started the same as yesterday. We went to church with our new friends and then had lunch with them. The kids talked non stop throughout the entire meal. 9k on their way home. I heard from a neighbor that the kids had been in the backyard all day. Which means they had been outside for a total of 5k or so. I grabbed a couple of hot dogs from the house and they ate them as they walked the 5k back home. 11k on their way home. On the way home the three of them climbed all over the car as I stopped to get some mail at the house on my way home. (I must say that I love the way they love to climb on and in the car). 11k on their way home. In the car while we were driving home, the kids finished the "I wanna be like Mike" song and then one of the girls started singing the "Adele" song. They sang it all the way home! 10k on their way home. 4pm. They all took a bath together. (I had given them each a wash cloth and told them that after their bath, they were to put their wash cloths in the washer) But I forgot that one of them had a bruise and it looked like it was bleeding. I asked if they were ok and they told me that one of their nose was hurting. We checked it out and sure enough, it was sore. So we took them to the clinic and had them x-
